

National Clinical Guidelines – Intellectual Property

National Clinical Guidelines quality assured by NCEC and published by the Department of Health have been developed for use in healthcare organisations in Ireland only, taking into account specific requirements for the Irish healthcare setting. Where the use of Irish National Clinical Guidelines in other countries is proposed these countries should review and adapt guideline content taking into account country specific requirements. The guideline content developed by the Guideline Development Group, NCEC and Department of Health is the property of the bodies as listed and should not be reproduced without permission for commercial purposes. Permissions should be sought through the Clinical Effectiveness Unit, Department of Health via ncec@health.gov.ie