To whom it may concern,

Apologies but some of the technical aspect I could not differentiate the best model but wanted to submit the following;

I think this is absolutely fantastic and if there is any possibility for bringing it in sooner that should be explored. I think the impact on litter will be immense.

I would favour also a reuse like scheme seen in Germany with the harder plastic.

I think retailers should be made except any plastic bottles / cans.

Glass should also be incorporated into the scheme as these are a huge source of debris on cycle lanes.

I agree with the 20 cent cost but should be reviewed periodically and one cost for all containers.

A social media / print media / TV / radio and also in store advertising could be used to advertise it. I would also highlight how this is common practise in most European countries and highlight advantages to public.

All retailers must be signed up to it.

With respect to competitive disadvantage - perhaps specific QR codes for IE produce on cans and a marking on bottles?

Really delighted to see this finally coming in, way overdue.

Kind Regards,
