Hello,

I am writing to you to support the proposed Deposit and return scheme. I spent a long time living in Norway where the system has been in place for decades and is hugely popular. It's very easy, and you quickly get used to it. You can recycle both plastic and cans through this method.

I (and many people I know) have stopped purchasing plastic bottles in Ireland due to concerns about recycling, so I think retailers and drinks companies will actually see a boost if something like this is put in place. The average consumer is now much more discerning about plastic waste and I think if we can see how bottles and plastic are being properly recycled, we will be more likely to purchase those products.

Best wishes,
