Dear Sir/Madam,

I'm an environmental educator and have travelled extensively around the world. One of the initiatives I noticed to be quite affective was the one in Canada. I've attached a link to the website below. I would highly recommend this type of initiative in Ireland. Not only is it good for the environment but it helps homeless people. As a result of this initiative its cut waste by over half.

I also think that we need to bring in recycling bins across cities and counties as there is none.

Regards,
