It is a complete no brainer.
All the mean people to mean to pay for recycling will be running to get deposits back.
All the lazy people will give others the opportunity to make some cash.
An entire cottage industry could grow around it.

BEWARE, It could also lead to nuisance and even crime of people stealing legitimate recycling facilities.

It is an established practice in America as well.
It did lead to little old people walking the streets with big plastic bags at all hours searching the bins on the streets to retrieve recyclables.
