To whom it concerns,

I believe the deposit return fee is too low to engage all parties. I would recommend 50cent which I believe would guarantee a 95 % Or greater uptake.
Long term goals of re-using rather than re-cycling should be considered.
Glass bottles for example are destroyed every day in huge quantities.
The energy and raw material that went into manufacturing the bottle can be preserved.
Other products should also be considered for re-use. A change of mindset in how we view products should be encouraged.
I believe a hybrid option (b) would be more successful long term & has the potential to create more jobs.

Kind Regards
