To whom it may concern,

I think the proposed 20 cent charge is too low and won't fully stop people from throwing their bottles away, I think a deposit of 1 euro is more appropriate and would ensure full compliance. Also every roadside in the country including national parks such as Connemara and Glenveagh are strewn with cans and plastic bottles. A major operation will be needed to clean up this mess and could perhaps be carried out alongside the introduction of the deposit scheme.

Kind regards,
