Hello ....

Regarding the proposed deposit scheme for plastic / glass etc.

I presume that the price of the product will increase by the deposit amount.
So what about the people who already are paying for a green bin service ?

So I get hit with an increase in the product , which in order to recoup that increase , I must return the empty bottle , but I'm already paying to recycle my plastic / glass by handing over 320 euro a year to a private company because previous Governments privatised waste collection.

So will we see a reduction in the green bin charges as a result ? Or how is that going to work ?

Rgds
