To whom it concerns,

I wish to express my support for the deposit return scheme. I feel it is crucial that this system or any system is in place to dramatically cut the excessive waste being generated. The location of these machines are crucial to encourage and increase convenience for the end user. Consider placing them in well lit areas, with parking as mostly like people will drive with empty cans and glass. Also consider a proposal to eliminate excessive use of plastics and packaging. Consider following best practice examples that are already in place in the Netherlands, Germany and Denmark. We as a nation are behind the curve, no need to reinvent the wheel! Just copy what's good! I also feel that waste collection services needs to be taken back into the fold with county councils taking responsibility. It should be incorporated as part of a "council tax" on properties to make it convenient for everyone to use and avoids people evading payments and encouraging illegal dumping.

Kind regards,
