I would like to express my concern at An Bord Pleanala and their blatant disregard for the planning decisions regarding masts that are made by local authorities .

In the last 10 appeals for masts , which have been rejected by the local authorities and indeed by ABP own inspectors , ABP have approved the planning . While I acknowledge the need for better coverage in many areas , I have grave concerns about just how impartial ABP is when huge companies seem to be getting their way with blatant disregard for rural communities . It seems that there really is no point in the whole planning process when ABP will favour the big company in the end anyway ! This really needs to be looked at and investigated .
